Supported Employment Department

The Supported Employment Department is expanding its efforts to bring new prospects for the folks we serve. With the creation of the vending department, the consumers are able to learn new skills and trades. Vending gives us the ability to create jobs, have goals to reach, and also, bring opportunities for earning money. We have four vending machines: two are located at our Meadow Avenue site, one is our Senior site, and one is at a local daycare center.

The consumers assist with searching through the store ads, comparing prices, and looking for the products to offer in the vending machines. They shop at the stores and purchase the goods, help to stock the machines – weekly or as needed, rotate merchandise and ensure machine quality.

Recently, the Kiwanis Club of Scranton donated gumball machines to our vending machine business. We reached out to the Career Technology Center, CTC, for help with restoring the machines to their original beauty. The students looked over, cleaned, sanitized, and repainted each of the units. When they were completed, we placed two machines at a neighboring business. Carl, who enjoys being helpful, volunteers to assist with the filling of these machines. It brings him joy to see the children enjoying the candy that he takes pride in helping to provide.

Our vending business is growing and we want to see a successful expansion in the future. This is only possible with the help from the consumers and community.

Sincerely,
Erica Francis

President's Message

Happy Winter!!!

We are finally receiving snow and arctic cold. I certainly can do with out the arctic blasts. I trust you enjoyed the holidays with your families and friends. Celebrating with food, fun, and festivities is a great joy.

The 'State of the Arc Union' is well and we are all grateful for that. We are serving those who reach out to us and also supporting their family and friends. All programs are doing well and achieving results; thanks to our dedicated staff. Know that the Board is kept apprised of everything and we are very fortunate to have all of you on board. Grazie!!!

This February we celebrate two great individuals who have lead our country; i.e. George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Our democracy has served us well and may it continue to do so. We are the government of the people and must remain so. Take an interest in what we believe in and get as involved as you can. Your ideas and comments are always welcome. Call the Arc and/or board members to let us know what you are thinking. If you would like to visit and tour any of our programs we would welcome you. Our consumers enjoy talking to individuals about our mission and may surprise you. Contact me at any time by leaving a message at the Arc and I will get back to you. Bless you and enjoy each and every day.

Ann Hoffman
President

P.S. I am also active with the Auxiliary. We welcome new members and have a lot of fun doing our work. We educate the community about the Arc of NEPA and we fund raise for the good of the cause

Exec's Corner

A New Year.....

The weather station on the kitchen window sill shouts -10 degrees on this last morning in January. Any delusion of a mild winter has been dispelled. Tomorrow, February 1st, is Saint Brigid's Day, a traditional, and often a week long, celebration in Ireland and Scotland that reminds us spring is on it's way. You see, it is now when the first blades of grass so welcomingly appear on the Emerald Isle, and the lambs, for weeks sheltered in the barns, return to their pastures. We are midway between the winter solstice and the spring equinox. This is an "ahhh" moment and a very proper cause for celebration. Perhaps you pass these cold days of winter by planning your summer garden or maybe you prefer to binge watch a season or six of your favorite show on Netflix. Whatever the choice, I hope you find celebration in knowing we move closer to spring each day.

The months behind us were gloriously busy. We filled the December calendar with many holiday celebrations. Our annual Christmas Party, coordinated by Mari Pizur and Holly Scripp, brought us all together for a fine evening of merriment. Our Parents of Down Syndrome group, lead by Bert Morgan, hosted a festive breakfast with Santa as the special guest. Who doesn't love the Friends of The Arc Auxiliary Cookie Walk followed by the Adult Day holiday show? This is a day when the spirit of the season fills every heart. We are fortunate to have such marvelous opportunities.

More recently, we have engaged in the Office of Developmental Programs, (ODP), Quality Assurance and Improvement process. This process is designed to conduct a comprehensive management review of service delivery to individuals with developmental disabilities and autism spectrum disorders. The Arc received accolades for our strong advocacy role in community as well as the initiatives we've taken to align our services with ODP changes. We have earned a reputation for quality in services and particularly for the respectful and caring relationships between staff and the folks we serve. Hats off to Kelly Peters, as he lead the Quality Assurance and Improvement Process, and to all Arc staff who know that what we do is much more than a job!

We have also committed our time and talents to serving on ODP's Residential Learning Collaborative. Staff from varying perspectives will travel to Harrisburg and spend a day brainstorming areas of focus necessary to better services. This is a don't miss chance to network over best practices with providers across the commonwealth.

Yes there is lots more to do. Much more to look forward to as we move along the path to spring.

My best to you,
Maryclaire Kretsch
Executive Director

Celebrating The Holidays!

Submitted by: Mari Pizur

Happy Holidays!

Sometimes we lose sight of what is most important to us during the holiday season. We get wrapped up with commercialism, keeping up with the Jones' and rushing to keep up with a hectic schedule, we should all jump off the speed train and take time to not only appreciate the true meaning of the holidays and be thankful for what we have. Rather than embracing what they do not have -- this is what the holiday spirit is all about.

It is a time to give of yourself, your time and your love. No gift can accurately reflect the love we feel for those who are near and dear to us, we can show them that they matter by spending time and laughs together.

The week of December 9th the Recreation Department had our Holiday Parties in both Lackawanna and Carbon County.

The weather outside was cold and dreary for both parties, but inside Fiorelli's and the VFW the rooms were full of warmth. The rooms were beautifully decorated with Christmas trees, bows and garland, but what shined the most were the smiles, the joy and the happiness that filled the rooms. Friends and families excited to share another holiday together in the true meaning of the holidays.

This year our theme was "Jingle Bells"! The room was filled with laughter as the Recreation Staff entered the party in their Jingle Bell costumes. Adding to the spirit of the season a man in a red suit appeared with a smile and a hardy HO, HO, HO while dancing around the dance floor. We had record breaking attendance of 320 people. Each guest had time for a picture with Santa and received a gift. After all the Santa excitement, everyone put on their dancing shoes and rocked around the Christmas tree until the party came to an end. We hoped everyone enjoyed the Holiday parties as much as we did! Thanks to all our volunteers who offered their time to enhance our holiday spirit!

Having said all that, this year I did take a moment to reflect on how truly blessed I am to have the opportunities to share my life with the people we serve and their families. Many laughs and sheer joy have been shared throughout the year!

On behalf of The Arc Recreation, I would like wish a very Safe and Prosperous New Year!

Rotary Holiday Auction Fundraiser

Submitted by: Mari Pizur

The premiere community service event for The Rotary Club of Scranton is the Holiday Auction which is a dinner event that features a live and silent auction of various items.

The Arc of NEPA was fortunate again this year to receive the proceeds from the Auction.

The gala event was held on December 6th at the Radisson Lackawanna Station Hotel in Scranton. It was in the Grand Ballroom which was decorated with white lights throughout giving the neoclassical structure a warm holiday feeling. Holiday spirits filled the air as we listened to Scranton High School Night Rhythms singing holiday songs directed by Lisa McConlogue.

They were wonderful and a great way to start the evening.

The silent auction had all types of prizes from gift cards, blankets, home goods and games. The live auction had a variety of items briefcases, alarm systems, computers, tools, ladders and much more that were open for bids. The live Auctioneers were fantastic and full of fun. There was a wine number pull table where everyone who played was a winner!

The Arc of NEPA is so grateful for the tremendous support from the community and Rotary Club. The time, the effort and dedication by the Rotary members was impeccable and greatly appreciated.

Leave a Legacy – Estate Giving Program

Remembering...

The Arc's founding parents, concerned community members and friends have passed on a legacy of commitment to a new generation. Today, we seek to sustain this legacy.

Building...

Looking toward tomorrow may often be intimidating, but at The Arc we continue the mission and grow with the needs of the children and adults we serve.

Leaving a Legacy...

By giving a gift to The Arc, you are ensuring a bright future for the people served in our programs. Estate giving allows for a variety of ways for individuals to choose the support most appropriate for planning their legacy: Outright cash gifts, designated life insurance policy, bequests, real estate.

We appreciate your kindness you show on an annual basis. As we move forward today and throughout the year, we also need to be remembered as we go into the future. With your generosity, we can continue offering the services to the individuals who need them. If you would like to explore a method of giving that is right for you, please feel free to contact us and we will be happy to meet with you. For specific financial or legal advice, please consult with an attorney or financial planner.

Remembering Stacy

written by Noniey Cosmark

Tears streamed down my face when I heard the news today.
One last goodbye I never had the chance to say..
I know you finally found your peace and you're in a better place, but ya see we just weren't ready, we want one last embrace.
The many times you told us jokes and all we could do was laugh, and say one day you'll be famous and I'd want your autograph.
Then the day we hit the casino and you won all the cash, and here I was the loser, and you of course had to talk some trash.
How many times we played Uno and you of course kicked my butt, you would remind me ever gently that I must be in a rut.
I truly wish you saw how much love you really shared,
and hope you never doubted how much we really cared.
I guess God must have known 'cuz he only takes the best,
He knew that you were ready and it was time for you to rest.
Sadly, it is our time when we have to grieve your loss, until the time comes once again when our paths do cross.

Mikayla Resh

On March 26th of 2010, The Friends of The Arc Auxiliary hosted an educational day with Mikayla Resh. Over 500 third graders from Scranton and North Pocono School Districts had the honor of meeting Miss Resh, a young woman with severe disabilities, at St. Mary's Center. Mikayla educated those students (Seniors this year) with her amazing story and continued to be an inspiration to thousands more over the years. On January 30th, Mikayla passed away. Please help continue to honor her memory by sharing her beautiful story.

When Mikayla was a third grader at Lower Nazareth Elementary School she and her classmates did something quite extraordinary.

Having already known Mikayla for two years, her classmates knew what it was like to meet someone with disabilities for the first time. Not only did they understand what it meant to meet someone different, they also knew what it was like to have a friend with multiple disabilities.

Motivated by her belief that children often could offer the best explanation to other children, Kim, approached Mikayla's principal and teacher and asked them to let her help Mikayla's friends write and illustrate a book about having a friend with a disability. Both being advocates of inclusion, they agreed.

The class had just written autobiographies and since Mikayla was unable to write her own, the children were very eager to help Mikayla tell her story. After several class discussions concerning Mikayla's disabilities the children wrote paragraphs about what they understood. There were 75 thoughtful essays and wonderful illustrations depicting their feelings and interactions with Mikayla. Kim used the children's work, and by embedding their phrases and sentences, Mikayla's classmates' work became an outline for the book, Our Friend Mikayla. The book wrote itself.

Our Friend Mikayla was published in late 2006 with the financial support of The National Inclusion Project, founded by Clay Aiken. <https://www.mikaylasvoice.org/blog/our-friend-mikayla/>

Mikayla Jade Resh

NAZARETH

Published in The Express Times on Feb. 5, 2019

Mikayla Jade Resh, 24, of Nazareth, was at home with both her parents, Michael and Kimberly, when she took her last breath on Jan. 30, 2019. She waited to leave for Heaven until her dad could get home and her sister, Lauren, had called to say she loved her. She will be missed by countless family and friends, especially Logan, Hannah, and Dalia.

Despite Mikayla's multiple disabilities, she was fully included at Lower Nazareth Elementary School, where her third grade class wrote and illustrated a book about having a friend with a disability. Mikayla was never able to speak, but these young authors told Mikayla's story, giving her a voice through which to share some of life's most valuable lessons. "Our Friend Mikayla" was first published in 2006, donated to every PA public elementary school in 2012, and is the inspiration for Mikayla's Voice.

Founded in 2010 by her family and friends, Mikayla's Voice is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization inspiring kids of all abilities to share the message of inclusion. Two more books written by kids for other kids, school assemblies, a wheelchair painting program, and an annual youth triathlon all allow kids to enjoy and demonstrate successful inclusion as they work and play together. All programs are designed for children of all abilities so they may teach others to celebrate diversity and promote kindness.

Born on Dec. 23, 1994, in Flemington, NJ, Mikayla had a life full of love with her family and friends. She vacationed with Logan's family. Spent long weekends at the cabin. Ran in 5K races prior to her triathlon days. Went to her prom. Danced at weddings. Fed a giraffe. And loved to hold babies.

Mikayla's family promised that her "Voice" would continue to be heard. Louder. Stronger. Farther. A Voice for Inclusion. Kindness. Friendship. Love.

Stacy Mallory: Beauty Challenging Boundaries

To our friends and colleagues from Community Options Incorporated, where Stacy most recently resided, we collectively thank you for all you have done in the short time you had the opportunity to get to know and to serve her. To the caregivers from The Arc here today- and those Arc staff who are here in spirit while tending to their duties elsewhere, but who were close to Stacy...- I think Stacy would thank all of you a thousand times over. To Theresa, Shannon, and Pauline, you need to know that all of us here love you very much. AND that Stacy loved you very much. Sometimes she had a hard time showing it. But she did, and you know it- because you have all shared wonderful memories of your sisterhood with Stacy. I'll talk about those memories in a few moments.

Lastly and most importantly...to Mom Judy, Stacy's sisters and brother, and her nieces- we are honored to be here with you to celebrate Stacy's life; we are honored that you entrusted Stacy to our family -- thus becoming an extension of your family. And although we celebrate Stacy's life here today- all of us grieve with you. It's what families do. Her passing was too sudden; and it's very hard. The people in this room who you entrusted don't just perform a job. They accept, they embrace, they learn, love, and celebrate. And just like families- they fret, they worry, they struggle, they doubt, they try again, they support, and they help. And they always love. So we all grieve with you...with many different last names other than yours here today, but sharing one person who we all love with you.

And so now to Stacy, who hears and sees and knows all, as we all know: Your boundaries and your obstacles have always been challenged and contested by your own resolve and by the strength of your character. And some days, those boundaries and obstacles prevailed. You relented when you had to, but you rose each day to greet the world with the magnificence that you possessed. On the days that you were AT your best, we admired you and cheered you on. On the days that weren't --- we let you tell us what to do. The lesson here was that if you were dealing with something... and if we were worth our salt- we would honor your plan, whatever that might be.

I think, Stacy that you were perhaps one of the most courageous individuals I have ever met. You could look all of us in the eye and ask if we really knew what you were feeling, what it was really like to be you, to really and truly dare us to walk- or to wheel- a mile in your shoes. You didn't ask us these things often, but when you did, it would have a profound impact on our thinking.

The plans of (support?) ---that WE have to develop and work with to help people don't often match the real illustration of what a life really looks like - a life that just so happens to be trusting of our help and our support ..... We're good at knowing the basics. We do it well. We will never, however, know the heart-the mind- or the dreams. You, Stacy, more than anyone we've met, let us know continually that we needed to stay on point- to try to keep pace with your spirit. Because HERE'S the thing:... we found you to be brilliant beyond all the formalities we engaged in trying to support you - , all the meetings.... and all plans, and all that stuff. This was your challenge to us to try to keep up. Winston Churchill said something germane to this best in 1939 with his great quote:

"It is a riddle, wrapped in a mystery, inside ...an enigma". This was the spirit of Stacy Mallory. Your spirit gave us these things:

1. Laughter: this is my best memory..... A laughter that was infectious and unmistakable. It most times would require patience on our ends for it to subside before we could even get a word in edge-wise. You laughed better than anyone I know, Stacy. Your body rose from your chair up to the clouds when you laughed hardest.

2. A challenge: a call to us to take you on in a card or a video game- some of your favorite things. You seldom lost. You showed some of your greatest confidence in yourself when you knew people like me didn't have a chance. I think you challenged every scratch off lottery ticket to dare you not to be a winner. I remember times when you'd whisper to me that you'd won a few bucks.

3. An admirable quest: a quest to push yourself. Walking--swimming- exercising to the extent you could.... when the inevitable dictated that most of your days would keep you in your chair. But I will never ever forget your perfect posture the day you filmed a video for the United Way, thanking the community for helping to support people like you, as well as all sorts of folks from different walks of life who need just a little help. And you were proud that you gave back to those in need.

4. A family love: Your Mom and your family meant the world to you. And if we remove any label of disability, like you always wanted- you were simply a loving daughter, and sister, aunt, friend. When you spread your wings to move from your family home, as adult gals do, you were so very proud to have your family visits at your new home.

5. A lifelong learner: you pushed us to help you to not be defined as a woman who needed services: you pushed us to help you harness the drive within you to acquire skills typical of women your age: computer skills, office skills, public speaking and interpersonal skills. Another of our most precious memories of you will be your experience at Lackawanna College. You flourished there. The truth is- you, Stacy, were the inspiration for the "College for A Day" experience which led to more collaborations for you and your friends to be on a college campus, doing things that enrolled students were doing. And, after that with the wind in your sails, you applied your newfound confidence. You typed memos to be sent home agency --wide, always ending with "Typed by Stacy". You assisted us in training those who were new to helping others at new hire orientations. To serve anyone the Arc serves- a new hire would very often have to meet with you for approval. You asked us to help you embellish this knack you had- and you went from interviewing potential caregivers, to helping to onboard those folks through your own personal advice on knowing what was important to you- as a representative of those with a voice, and those without. You were elected as President of the "Speaking out with Friends" self-advocacy group, typed your agendas, and learned the rules of order to conduct a meeting.

6. A question: Did we all know what you gave us every single day? Do we know how blessed we have been to experience you amazing each of us with something we didn't know about you? Do we know when you would ask us for private time to speak with us how privileged we were? And in those private talks, do we know that you were light years ahead of us thinking of your self-worth, your self-doubt, your forks in the road; your wishes and dreams, or your patience or impatience with us?

7. A humility and an exuberance (we'll tie these things together):

You were humble to the point of not wanting anyone to stare at you. You were humble to the point of saying, " Pat, I'm nervous...do you really think I can do this..??" But when given opportunities to speak, to enlighten others, to shine... when we told you we'd like you to help us to do something special.. That's when the exuberance kicked in. And it always tied into the infectious laughter I just mentioned- and it always tied into that same posture rising to the clouds, as hard as it was for you- and such self-pride. It must be a true gift to live in humility by nature, but to allow yourself exuberant pride when you know you've earned it.

8. A devilish side ( in only a good way)- ask anyone who has been called out and busted by you. Ask the handsome aqua therapy instructor you just MAY have put the moves on....

9. A giving, concerned, and loving- very loving- Stacy. This is your spirit legacy, Stacy, beyond all these other attributes we just reflected on. Day to day, quietly, you did these simple things: You always wanted to know how WE were. You greeted us with "gimme a hug". You battled days when it was hard for you to offer such love; and hard for us to find it. But none of that was ever your fault. I can't imagine how hard those days might have been for you. " A riddle, wrapped in a mystery, inside an enigma": flourishing, learning, laughing, and loving. So it's worth repeating that you, our dear Stacy, were brilliant beyond anything we could possibly try to help you with. The late famed professor Stephen Hawking said: "Remember to look up at the stars, and not down at your feet. And never give up working".

So let's return to the gifts that Theresa, Shannon, and Pauline enlightened me with the evening we told them that you had gone to God. The real you. We talked about "best memories" and the challenge to remember the very best of Stacy. Theresa said you gave her a coloring book that she still uses. Shannon said you invited her to be your video game partner. Pauline said that when she first moved in with us, she was so scared- and you, Stacy, were her reassurance- her welcome- her confidant, beyond what staff could say. And those are just your former housemates- you shared and gave much of the same to your friends you met in other places. Your family is blessed by counting you as one of them. All of us are blessed for knowing you. Your slip of your earthly bonds will remind us that there is always an "I love you" that should have been said again,... a "thank you" for your giving of yourself to others, an "I understand" when it's not such a great day, and an indelible lifelong reminder that beauty challenges boundaries.

Soar with angels, Stacy. Keep it fair in the card and video games. We love you tremendously and foreverly. Keep us in check. God bless you.

PPODS North welcomed the Christmas season with a holiday party on December 1st at Stony Acres in East Stroudsburg and PODS of NEPA hosted their Breakfast with Santa on December 16th at Fiorelli's. The children's faces lit up when Santa made his appearance. Great times spent with great people.

***For the second year, the Rotary Club of Scranton designated The Arc as the recipients of their Holiday Auction which was held on December 6th. We are so grateful for this friendship. The event is super and we were very excited about being a part of the evening. The entertainment was phenomenal and bidding was competitive. Thank you to the Rotarians for continuing to support The Arc!

The Christmas Show this year featured Sounds of the Season and once again, we had a packed house! We enjoyed favorites such as: Joy to the World, Silent Night and Deck the Halls, listened to the extraordinary playing of bells, watched spectacular choreography, sang along to familiar melodies and was awestruck at the talent and ability of all the participants. There is no better way to bring the feeling of the holidays to each and every one of us.

On December 6th, we all had the pleasure of being with great family, friends, enjoying food and frivolity! The employee holiday gathering was held and it was wonderful to see everyone. Thank you to all you came to enjoy each other's company and kudos to all the planners. It was very much appreciated.

volunteered rocked! Their hard work and dedication were beyond words. Around 200 people joined in the festivities and the night was full of winners.

The ladies purchased long sleeve tee shirts for all the folks in our programs. They are very nice and will keep our folks festive in the Irish green color with The Arc logo on the front. They also purchased kitchen supplies for the day program kitchen, as well as, a refrigerator for Summer Camp and several events for all the consumers to enjoy!

On Friday, December 14th, The Auxiliary had their Cookie Walk and a small Bazaar. We were sold out in no time and we wish to thank everyone for stopping by to visit! Your support helps to purchase many needed items in The Arc program and also, continue the projects that the folks love to participate in such as Arc Stars. A round of applause for all the folks who baked, bought and enjoyed the day with us

The membership mailing for the Auxiliary will be headed your way soon... Many members participate in events and help with volunteer and fund raising needs. We continue to have interest in the group and we feel very proud of all the work that is being done.

We have been informed by the Lackawanna County Department of Arts and Culture that we are receiving a grant for the Theater Arts Program for adults with developmental disabilities for the fourth year in a row!! Also, we recently visited Moscow Intermediate School for a presentation on The Arc Stars documentary and the students were phenomenal. The ladies are having a winter gathering for the Stars to celebrate all their successes and just to have a good time.

Foundation Overview:

The End of the Year Foundation "Ask" appeal was designated to assist with costs associated with Advocacy efforts in our neighboring counties. We are proud to report that we were very successful with the Appeal. The community is very good to us and we are grateful for the support.

The Arc Responds and the Employee Driven Group:

The Arc Responds "Snowflake Tree" Holiday Project 2018 was a great success. Even when times are so tough, people are very generous and give what they can to help another have a better holiday. We are extremely proud of this project and are very grateful for your continued support of all the fund raising activities.

The poinsettias were here and gone!!! They were very popular and we sold almost 600 flowers which is an extraordinary amount of community support. The Adult Day Program oversaw the posies and Arc Responds was the beneficiary of the proceeds.
