The Arc Angels on Stage

Adults with disabilities (Angels) are preparing to bring a unique performance to the stage at the Peoples Security Bank Theater at Lackawanna College. Through a Lackawanna Culture & Arts grant, Director Geri Featherby, along with Lindsay Cocker, Avery Roberts and choreographers: Cristina Sohns-Williams and Jennifer Sohns-Petty have produced the eighth Arc performance. For the past several years, a theatrical extravaganza has been created from a weekly practice learning experience. This year's production promises to offer a wonderful show for both performers and audience.

The Friends of The Arc Auxiliary raises awareness through educating the community on the many abilities of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities.
